

Foundation Diploma in Music

Type of Qualification: BTEC Foundation Diploma

Level of Course: 3

Description:

This is a practical course assessed through video and audio recordings of your work, backed up with supporting written evidence.

Over the two years, you will study six modules. The mandatory modules include:

- a music performance brief
- music skills development
- composition brief
- professional practice in the music industry

There are then a further 2 optional units that you and your tutor may choose from.

How is the course assessed?

Many modules require you to undertake written research and you may also have to provide a written report or article as part of an assignment. You will be required to be able to play a musical instrument.

Additional Information

This course will prepare you for future work in all sectors of the music industry. It is an enjoyable course with many opportunities to perform both in and out of lessons. Alongside the course you will have access to expert tuition on your instrument from one of our excellent visiting teachers.
